

Transas Marine

By Larry DeGraff, Transas Marine

Just a couple minutes just to introduce myself. My name is Larry DeGraff, and I'm with Transas Marine. We are a UK based company that builds electronic charts and information systems. And if we have some time at the end, I could show you my system, but I really haven't prepared any type of presentation.

We're very active in the high seas part of the business. Currently we are probably the largest supplier by double of ECDIS systems. We were the world's first type-approved ECDIS system. And much of the functionality you will see in these presentations, of course, is driven by ECDIS performance standards. So, basically our system operates very similarly.

I look more forward to the time we're going to have later. Thank you very much for your time and the invitation to be here.
